

Alyssa Green, formerly known as Alyssa Cable, graduated from Conemaugh Township Area Middle School/High School in 2011. After graduating, she attended Eastern Mennonite University and majored in Elementary Education. She received her bachelor's degree in only three years of post-secondary education and recently graduated in April of 2014.

In the summer of 2013 she traveled to Honduras for six weeks and found her love for the Spanish language. She spent her time experiencing the culture, enjoying the food, and learning the language in a Spanish school. After taking all four years of Spanish in high school, she knew the basics of how to communicate with the natives and her host family, which lead her to her current job - teaching Spanish at Salisbury Elk-Lick High School.

She married Jared Green and has been enjoying married life ever since. She now resides in Salisbury, PA with her husband and kitten, Zeus.

When asked who her favorite teacher was in high school, Alyssa had multiple answers. “My favorite teachers were Mr. Andolina who taught me how to write and Mrs. Bartoletti who inspired my love for Spanish and my current occupation today.”

She exclaimed of how much fun she had in high school, and of her fondest memories that included Homecoming, performing in the musicals, and when Mr. Foster’s office chair was replaced.

When it comes to life after high school and life in general, Alyssa has a lot of wisdom behind her, “Life after high school is a crazy roller coaster ride. Sometimes I feel slapped in the face with adulthood. However, I couldn’t be more grateful for CTHS and the solid foundation it laid for me.”
