

Kimberly Showalter, formerly known as Kimberly Yoder, graduated in 1990 from Conemaugh Township Senior/Middle High School. After graduating, she went to Eastern Mennonite College and biology degree in 1994. Kim then furthered her education and obtained a master degree in 2002 at James Madison University.

Kim married Glen Showalter in 1996. They have three children: Tessa, Morgan, and Madison Showalter. The three children attended and graduated from Conemaugh Township. Kim still lives in Hollsopple and manages St. Francis Sharing and Caring Thrift Shop.

Kim has overcome various obstacles and adversity in life but has never lost her faith. She is a remarkable pillar in our community and invested in Conemaugh Township. Her fondest memory from Conemaugh Township was her senior prom. Mr. Debiase was her favorite teacher and she shared, "He taught one of my favorite subjects and always cared about his students."
