

Scott Fetterman was a part of the Conemaugh Township Area Middle/High School graduating class of 1988. After high school he attended California University of Pennsylvania where he majored in social work. He graduated in 1993. Later, he went on to obtain a master's degree in Vocational Rehabilitation where he became a counselor. While he was attending college, he participated in wrestling for his first two years and later returned as a coach for two years. After coaching at Cal U, he coached wrestling at Conemaugh Township for four years, volunteered for two years, and then became the head coach. Scott is now the father of four daughters and lives in Thomas Mills, Pennsylvania. He works at Hiram G. Andrews Center as a vocational rehabilitation counselor.

During his high school career, he was involved in many sports including golf, cross country, track, baseball, and wrestling which was the sport he participated in the most over the years. He was also in the conservation club. Scott's favorite activity in school was wrestling; his favorite memory was when he made it to the PIAA States for wrestling at Hershey Park and knocking off the number one ranked wrestler of that season.

Scott is currently back at Conemaugh Township where he is coaching Junior High Soccer and Junior High Track and Field. "I enjoy being back and helping with the sports at the same place that I played," he mentioned. Scott added, "CT is a great place for work and home!"
